

Roetzel Transitioning to Virtual Work Environment

By Robert Blackham

After considering how best to serve our clients and protect the health and welfare of our employees, their families, and the community at large, Roetzel has begun transitioning to a virtual work environment as of Monday, March 16, 2020. This step is being taken in an abundance of caution and taking into account all recommendations from local, state and federal authorities. Please know that we are open for business as usual and are fully staffed to meet any client needs and address any questions or concerns relating to COVID-19, or any other issues. Our business continuity plans, procedures, and safeguards are in effect and all means of contacting your legal team remain the same.

To that end, we have put together a COVID-19 Response Team and resource page for our clients that can be found here. This information is updated regularly as new issues arise and new insights are available. Roetzel will continue to provide the highest levels of quality and service during these unique and challenging circumstances. Please stay safe and well and do not hesitate to contact us if we can be of service in any capacity.
